Given the festive season, when TV and internet are flooded with countdowns of top world news, films and music of the year, I thought it a good time to instead look ahead to 2017: to see what changes the new year has in store for Jersey's legislation.